Pressing On

"Not that I have already obtained this or am already perfect, but I press on to make it my own, because Christ Jesus has made me his own. Brothers, I do not consider that I have made it my own. But one thing I do: forgetting what lies behind and straining forward to what lies ahead, I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus." Phil 3:12-14 – ESV

Paul says his plan is to forget "what lies behind" and press on to what's out in front. What's out in front of you? We have ten young adults about to move on to a new phase in their lives. Three of our own are graduating high school in the next few days. Seven of our church family have graduated college recently. Moving on indeed! These are such great days – monumental days! It's exciting to think about what challenges and opportunities are out in front for them. They'll be looking at new job opportunities possibly, new educational options, new encounters of all sorts.

Obviously not all of us are at this point in life. For some of us, it's W A Y back in the rearview! For others, it's still out ahead. But, can't we all take the same encouragement from our brother Paul? Every day we have to forget our past. For these graduates, does that mean they can't reminisce about high school and college? Certainly not. I'm sure there has been and will be plenty of that. For the rest of us, does it mean we can't treasure fond memories? Absolutely not. I, for one, am a blatant nostalgist. (According to the squiggly red line which just appeared, that's not a real word – it is now!) I love looking at old pictures and sharing great memories of times gone by.

But, what Paul is telling us is, "Don't get bogged down. Don't let your past define you." In Christ, we have the fabulous blessing of a new day – every day (2 Cor 5:7). Christians can view each new day as a new chance to serve God and love His people. We can see each sunrise as another day to improve our relationship with Him and with others.

So, to our graduates: embrace this new phase of life. Make it great. To the rest of us: embrace this new day. It's God-given. And, above all for each of us, keep God first and foremost. Strain forward, press on, and always remember...the call is God's call for you to live for Him here...and someday come home to Him.

In Him, Clint
